No space? Then grow your vegetables in pots

Use any part of your garden or patio to grow your own tasty produce. Just find the sunniest spot, as most vegetables do not like deep shade. Use containers of any shape or size, ensuring you have adequate drainage in the bottom. We recommend you buy the best compost that contains sufficient nutrients to last the season, but you may also need to add plant feed later to ensure your plants stay and grow healthy.

You can grow up to 53lbs of potatoes in this raised bed
